

Angry Man

I have had a few paranormal experiences over my lifetime, I believe it is due to I am open to it & it doesn't scare me. I purchased a home that was approx 100 yrs old in Kincaid, IL. One night I woke up because I felt a cat jump on the bed & kneading the covers, I dismissed it because I had 2 cats and they were just waking me up again. I shoo'd the cat away but since I was awake, I got up to go to the kitchen. In the dark I walked from my bedroom, down the short hall turned right thru the dining room & right into the kitchen, turned on the light and saw both of my cat's 2 rooms over sleeping on the couch, they both looked up blinking their eyes as I had just woke them up. Another late night I was sitting up wide awake in bed with the light on, browsing the internet on my laptop. I heard a faint noise from my closet that was directly in my line of site. The noise was the doorknob turning - this was an old house with the "crystal" like door handles with heavy dark wood doors that opened outward. Within a few seconds, the closet door opened halfway, about 3 foot and then closed again & I heard it latch. A friend of mine who is sensitive to the paranormal but afraid of it, only visited twice in 3 years. She later told me she sensed a woman climbing on her back, the woman was afraid of a man and he would shut her in the closet, yes, this was my bedroom closet. A male friend, who did not know of the previous stories, said when he drove into my driveway, he sensed 3 ghosts peering out the window at him. He felt there was an angry abusive man and a scared wife. He said the man did not show himself to me because I was too strong and the woman felt safe that I was there.
